Dear Mr Hampton,

My apologies. I should have responded to you before now but life is extremely hectic at the moment. I am not a con. I have to gain by being one and much to lose.

Not much to report on my meetings with Anton Bredell and Helen Zille. Bredell did admit that you probably have a few points while Zille was so distracted she basically just passed us on to one of her advisors.

The problem I have is that while your focus is entirely, and understandably, directed at Knysna, mine covers a much wider field where it seems that similar issues to those you have exposed in Knysna exist in many DA led municipalities. I am still engaged with all of this.

As I said at the outset, it will take me some time to get through everything. Please bear with me.

Is there any possibility of obtaining a hard copy version of your book? I am quite happy to pay for it. I do not do electronic books very well.

Take care!

Sincerely,

Alan McLoughlin
